

Make Your Work More Meaningful

A Personal Improvement Seminar

Work is a financial necessity for almost everyone, along with the sacrifices work sometimes demands. It can be drudgery. But work also can be fun and exciting. The competition can be energizing. Work can be an important and positive part of our lives.

What kind of mindset do you have about work?

Identifying your own outlook toward work can help you define what you need — or want — in your professional life.

What should you emphasize — or de-emphasize — to make your work more satisfying?

What distinctive goals should you have to make your job more meaningful?
